Workshop Description:

The ability to make mosaic jewellery is a fantastic skill that can result in many gifts and sales! Learn how to create high end, precisely laid mosaic jewellery in this two day workshop. The first day begins with a comprehensive lecture and slide show on jewellery base selection, adhesive choice, and suitable tesserae, followed by an examination of design for jewellery and how it differs from standard mosaic design. Precision cutting, the key to fine mosaic jewellery, will be discussed, demonstrated, and practiced. Jewellery laying techniques will be thoroughly covered, and students can expect lots of great tips! Class participants will receive lots of individual attention as they work on silver plate mosaic pendants using mosaic gold, smalti, filati, semiprecious stones, dichroic glass, and millefiori. On the second day, participants will hone their newfound skills in precision mosaic making while working on a more challenging second or even third project. A comprehensive handout will be provided, and participants should expect to depart with the knowledge and skills to create precision mosaic jewellery on their own. This workshop should particularly benefit participants of all levels who are wanting to learn to cut material more precisely, who want to add high end mosaic jewellery to their repertoire, or who are interested in learning to work in small scale mosaic.

Students in this class will be provided with all materials and tools to create their mosaic pendant except wheeled glass nippers and protective eyewear. Please bring wheeled glass nippers and safety glasses to the workshop, as well as any magnifying eyewear or tools if required or desired.

About Margo: Margo Anton has been working as a professional mosaic artist for over a decade, creating fine art mosaics, mosaic jewelry, and teaching classes. She has exhibited her highly textured art work in her native Canada, the USA, Ireland and Italy. When not creating mosaics and mosaic jewelry, she shares her knowledge and love of the mosaic medium by teaching, from regular classes in Canada, to workshops in the USA, to artist residencies abroad. In 2009, she created the Mosaic a Day project, creating a small mosaic everyday; her exceptionally precise jewellery was one of the by-products of this enterprise. Her mastery of the tiniest cuts enables her to create outstanding high-end mosaic jewellery, which can be seen at www.margoanton.com.
